

THE VETERANS CONSORTIUM
PRO BONO PROGRAM

1992 2017

Did you know you have 120 days to file your veteran's appeal? Act now, save time, and use this new tool to file online.

If your veteran has a denial from the Board of Veterans Appeals (BVA), this online application provides an easy way to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims, as well as apply for Pro Bono Program help. The application also allows you to request our help if your veteran's case is already at the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims.

Remember, you have only 120 days to appeal a denial from the BVA so use this link and apply online today. Take advantage of this online tool if your veteran meets the following criteria:

- is a veteran (or qualifying family member of a veteran),
- has received an adverse decision (denial) from the BVA, and
- is not already represented by an attorney.

Our New Online Application Form is Now Live.

- Remember, you only have 120 days to appeal a denial from the BVA, so use this link to apply online today.
- If you have a denial from the Board of Veterans Appeals, this online application provides a way to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims.
- This application also allows you to ask us for help with the appeals process.

The Veterans Consortium Pro Bono Application

If you received an unfavorable decision from the Board of Veterans Appeals, you have the right to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims (CAVC). You can appeal with the Court, and request a free lawyer from The Veterans Consortium Pro Bono Program, a non-profit organization that provides lawyers nationwide.

This system is a short, secure interview to fill then send your completed forms to the Pro Bono Program, who will then review and send them to Court, as well as file for a free lawyer.
